

Archer Attorneys to Speak at Atlantic Builders Convention in A.C.

Press Releases

03.07.2011

Three attorneys from Archer, P.C., will participate as speakers at educational seminars at the 62nd Annual Atlantic Builders Convention (ABC) in Atlantic City, N.J., the largest housing industry trade show in the Northeast.

Scheduled for April 6-8 at the Atlantic City Convention Center, the convention features educational programs led by expert presenters including Archer attorneys Robert W. Bucknam, Gary L. Green and Guliet D. Hirsch.

More than 7,000 people from a six-state region attend the ABC annually. Participants include residential and commercial builders, developers, remodelers, subcontractors and building materials suppliers, plus a variety of professionals including architects, accountants, attorneys, engineers and financial planners, as well as insurance and real estate agents. Hundreds of exhibitors showcase innovative products and services to a diverse audience of industry leaders. For more information on the Atlantic Builders Convention and a full schedule of programs, visit www.abconvention.com.

The Chair of Archer's Land Use, Environmental Permitting and Compliance Group, Mr. Bucknam will be a panelist for the seminar, "Legal Trends II Environmental Law." The panel of environmental attorneys will examine the most recent significant changes in environmental law and discuss their implications. The discussion will include legislation, regulations and court decisions relating to environmental issues that continue to modify the legal framework for real estate development.

The Chair of Archer Real Estate Department, Mr. Green will be among several expert panelists for the program, "Financial Strategies for Tough Times." The panel of attorneys, bankers and developers will discuss topics and strategies focused on protecting businesses and maximize their economic recovery, including loan modifications, the foreclosure process, bankruptcy, managing and maintaining distressed assets, note sales, and recent developments around Real Estate Owned (REO) properties.

Ms. Hirsch, who has extensive experience in land development applications and litigation, will join the panel for "Affordable Housing," a seminar where participants will describe and discuss the volatile status of affordable housing programs in New Jersey, including litigation, proposed legislation and newly enacted law.

The schedule follows for programs involving Archer attorneys. All are held at the Atlantic City Convention Center:
