It has been more than a decade since New Jersey overhauled its limited liability company (LLC) statute. Adopted on Sept. 19, 2012, the New Jersey Revised Uniform Limited Liability Company Act, N.J.S.A. 42:2C-1 et seq. (NJ-RULLCA) became effective on March 18, 2013, for newly formed LLCs and on March 1, 2014, for all LLCs. Only a handful of opinions interpreting the statute have been published by the courts since that time.

In “Steps to Interpreting NJ-RULLCA,” an article authored for the New Jersey Law Journal, partner Gianfranco Pietrafesa describes resources attorneys and judges should use that provide the means to better understand the provisions of NJ-RULLCA, when required to unravel the meaning of the statute.

Gianfranco is a member of the firm’s Business Counseling Group. He is a former chair of the Business Law Section of the New Jersey State Bar Association and served on the committee that drafted NJ-RULLCA.
