Overview

John focuses on regulatory affairs and advocacy, business consulting, business development, and government relations. Representing clients before state legislatures and government agencies, his practice spans across industries, including healthcare, energy, and real estate. Always applying a hands-on approach to executing client projects, John provides services in a broad range of areas, including public finance and redevelopment, procurement and public sector business development, public-private partnership structures, county and municipal government advocacy, and structuring government finance incentives for project development.

A recognized leader in the transportation industry, John brings extensive experience to projects related to transportation and infrastructure, developing creative solutions in support of his clients' objectives. Clients value John's reputation knowing he is trusted and respected among government officials and agency heads for operating with integrity and credibility. With his strong network of contacts and decades of experience at all levels of government, John ensures his clients receive the high-level, personal attention and insightful strategic guidance that will position them for success.

Elected to the Pennsylvania House of Representatives in 1984, John served as the Chairman of the House Transportation Committee for four years. He was also Chairman of the House Urban Affairs Committee and the House Liquor Committee. In his role as Chairman of the House Transportation Committee, John was a member of the Pennsylvania State Transportation Commission. He oversaw all legislation that pertained to aviation, freight and passenger rail transportation, mass transit, road and bridge construction and maintenance, automotive travel and travel safety. In addition, he was involved with issues concerning road and bridge construction, the Motor License Fund, multi-modal funds and the State Police. He regularly interacted with the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation, the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, the Port of Philadelphia, and the Delaware River Port Authority.
